TREACHER & CO.'S GLENLIVET WHISKY.

THIS WHISKY is a blend from some of the most noted Distilleries in Scotland, and is guaranteed to consist of Pure Malt Spirit only. TREACHER'S GLENLIVET WHISKY is thoroughly matured, very mellow, and entirely free from any smoky or objectionable flavour.

TREACHER'S GLENLIVET WHISKY.

As large holders of the different kinds from which TREACHER'S BLENDED GLENLIVET is made, we are in a position to allow the various distillings to become thoroughly amalgamated before being bottled, an advantage which consumers of the article will readily appreciate.

TREACHER'S BLENDED GLENLIVET.

TREACHER and Co. feel that it would be an insult to the intelligence of their constituents to put forward Chemical Analyses and Medical Reports regarding this "Fine Old Spirit," as, however gratifying these may be in themselves, they are obviously useless as affording a guarantee that the Spirit offered is the same as that commented upon.

TREACHER'S GLENLIVET WHISKY.

TREACHER and Co. consider that the proper test of excellence of any article consists in the demand for it, and judged by that standard, the fact that the sale of TREACHER'S OLD GLENLIVET has increased more than twenty fold during the past ten years, and continues monthly to increase, may be accepted as conclusive proof of its character and value.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 15.

THE rains seem to be very general throughout the presidency, and crop accounts consequently are more cheerful than they have yet been. The effect on current business, however, is not very noticeable, Government Paper being the only thing in which any activity has been developed.

Yesterday's telegrams from London still quote Consols at 100¼, but the 3½ per cent. Indian Sterling Loan is ¼ higher at 106½, Rupee Fours being also ¼ better at 81⅜. Indian Exchange Bank shares are reported 10s. higher all round, quotations now being: Chartered, £23; Mercantile, £17-10; Hongkong and Shanghai, £51.

In the General Produce markets wheat is reported firm with an advance of 3d. per quarter in No. 1 and No. 2 Club to arrive vid Canal. Linseed is quieter and Calcutta via Cape is 3d. lower.

Cotton in Liverpool, Reuter says closed firm with Surats freely supplied, the day's sales being estimated at 8,000 bales, including 1,000 Surats. No change is made in prices either on the spot or to arrive, but from private sources we learn that arrivals were 1-32d. higher. In New York yesterday ready Mid-Uplands were still quoted at 11 cents, but futures were 1 point lower at 10·42 cents for November.

In Cotton here to-day there has simply been nothing doing for export. Some of the mills are compelled to be steady buyers, and for the qualities they require it is evident comparitively high prices may yet have to be paid. Holders of all kinds, however, are very firm in the pretty general belief of higher values being established later on, for which they have unquestionably some warrant in the unfavorably American Crop report and the statistical position.

SEEDS AND WHEAT are unchanged in value, and business is rapidly shrinking with the diminished available supplies we are bound to have for the next two months and-a-half.

FREIGHTS continue to tend easier. For Liverpool we now quote: Wheat, 21s. 3d.; Cotton, 22s. 6d. ready shipment; whilst for the Continental ports 27s. 6d. is asked, but 26s. 3d. would be accepted. For next month's loading the weakness is even more marked, and steamers could not be fixed at better than 25s. open Charter, and for September loading there is no enquiry whatever.

IMPORTS.—Piece-goods are steady with a full average business doing in the bazaar. Yarns are quiet, both English and Local. Of the latter we hear of sales at 6 annas per lb. for 20s. approved make.

EXCHANGE.—The market has ruled very steady to-day at about yesterday's rates, all the banks being willing drawers at the quotations, but only one buyer of Credits at 1s. 7 25-32d. From Calcutta the report comes firm at 1s. 7 9-16d. for Bank telegraphic and 1s. 8d. for 6 months' Credits. Closing quotations here for ready bills are:—

Bank Bills on Demand	1s. 7 9-16d. per rupee
Do. Telegraphic	1s. 7 17-32d.
Credits Three months' sight	1s. 7 25-32 to 13-16d.
France do.	Rs. 2·08½ to 3d.

GOVERNMENT PAPER has undergone a rapid advance to-day, and a large business has been done. Opening at ¼ premium buyers for Fours, a steady rise ensued until business was done at ⅜ and sellers at the close ask ½ premium and for Fours-and-a-half Rs. 102⅝. The settlement has gone off very satisfactorily, about 30 lacs of paper having, it is estimated, been taken up, and as money tends easier we may see yet a further advance.

SHARES hang fire rather. In the present relative positions of cotton and yarn the mills are known to be doing but a poor business, and notwithstanding the favorable character of the returns, rates are partially Rs. 5 lower. The settlement of the Chinese difficulties again. A ... but a better state of things they would bring ... to discount that, as ... but people do not ... to great ... the reverse would probably ... depression. Other shares are ... in value all round.

DEFECTIVE OR FAILING SIGHT.
THE sense of sight is so valuable that the importance of perfect and carefully adjusted spectacles can scarcely be overrated; although the wearing of single eye-glasses should be strictly avoided, we have the highest medical authority, confirmed by daily experience, that imperfect glasses, together with the haphazard plan of selection generally employed, are frequent causes of irremediable injury to the sight; and as no present economy can compensate for such a loss, it behoves all to be cautious how they are tempted to use the common pebble or glass spectacles now so generally sold.

For the guidance of those who are using pebble spectacles, it may be stated that when the pebbles are cut against the grain, and not polished on the principle which has been universally declared the most appropriate based on scientific research, they are injurious to the sight.

Unadvisable as the unnecessary wearing of spectacles undoubtedly is, the common notion that their use should be postponed to the utmost is proved beyond dispute to be a grave mistake.

Being in possession of all the optical instruments taken over by us from Dr. A. Menist, we are not only in a position to suit the eye sight to perfection, but to supply different accommodations for each eye which so frequently are needed.

The Bombay Gazette

WEDNESDAY, JULY 16, 1884.

A VERY interesting report on education in Coorg has been drawn up under orders from the Government of India by Mr. Lewis Rice, Director of Public Instruction in Mysore and Coorg. It is, in fact, a concise sketch of the progress made up to the present time in the education of the people of Coorg, since its annexation to British India in 1834. The Coorg country, though rich in natural beauty, is ill adapted for cultivation. Of the 1,583 square miles which compose its area, as many as 1,291 are perfectly uncultivable. Its narrow winding valleys, enclosed by the forest-covered summits and declivities of the Western Ghats, only lend themselves to rice cultivation. Of late years its adaptability for coffee cultivation has been recognised, and with the steady influx of European settlers forest lands have been cleared for plantations. The population, according to the last census, amounts to 178,302, of whom 100,439 are males and 77,863 females. The Coorgs themselves form but a sixth of this number; while the Holegas and Yeravas, their former menial slaves, form one-fourth more. These together form the original population. The rest are either immigrants or migratory labourers employed on the coffee estates. Of towns and villages properly so called there are none. These terms are applied to whole valleys, or to all the farm lands of one community, with all their isolated houses scattered here and there over the whole area. When the population is so scattered that "even the head places of taluks seldom consist of more than five or six buildings," the establishment of schools has been a very difficult task, especially as an excessive rainfall makes it almost impossible to stir out during several months of the year. But as a set-off against this the character and disposition of the people are exactly suited to the measures taken for their moral and material advancement. The Coorgs as a race have excited a vast amount of interest in all Europeans brought into contact with them. This they owe in a great part to their freedom from the demoralizing effects of the superstition that has enslaved the country so long, and to the readiness which they have shown to open their minds for the reception of new ideas and influences. Their natural capacities are said to be equal, if not superior, to those of many other races of India, but owing to their martial instincts the training of the mind has ever been subservient to the training of the body, and "physical endurance and personal prowess have ever been more in demand among them than mental culture." Therefore the introduction of such peculiarly English games as cricket and football have been marked with great success, since the Coorgs have taken to them as if to the manner born; but their minds have been found to be "very slow in development and often dull for book-learning or receiving abstract ideas." Thus though the people are not wanting in intelligence, and have even shown an earnest desire to receive the benefits of education by voluntary sacrifices in the cause, the progress made by the province in the first and main element of civilization, has after all been not very favourable.

The history of education in Coorg from its annexation up to the year 1881 may be conveniently divided into four periods. During the first period the task of rousing the sleeping intellects of the people fell to the share of the Government. The task was acknowledgedly not a very arduous one, as the people were reported to be freer from prejudice and more open to instruction than many other classes of the Indian population. But perhaps because no struggle was required to introduce the educational scheme, there was a marked absence of energy from the very first in all actions connected with it. What promised to be a very fertile soil proved barren of results, chiefly owing to official parsimony and the absence of proper supervision. For a period of twenty years a grant of Rs. 90 per month was all the encouragement which the Government thought fit to give to the solicitations of the Coorgs for education. This sum sufficed at first for the establishment of two Anglo-Vernacular schools, one at Mercara and the other at Virajpet, and a Kannada school; Kannada or Canarese being the official language of the country. This arrangement continued till 1842, when the Virajpet Canarese school was superseded by the opening of one by the Roman Catholics, who had gained some influence there. The saving thus effected was utilised for the opening of five new Kannada schools, and later on by a reduction in the salaries of all Kannada masters to Rs. 2½ a month, the number of so-called Government vernacular schools was increased to twenty-one. Thus it will be seen, according to the words of the report, that "the very insignificance of the stipends allowed to the masters made it ridiculous to attach the slightest value to their services as an educational agency." Matters continued in this state till 1854, when there appeared on the scene one to whose enthusiastic endeavours Coorg owes its awakening from a lethargic sleep. This was Dr. Moegling of the Basel Mission, who, in 1850, had established himself as the first Protestant missionary in Coorg. Conscious of the inaction that had characterised the efforts of the Government for twenty years, and of the consequent low degree of what passed for education in the country, he undertook to superintend the schools already existing and to open superior ones in connection with the Mission, if adequate support were given by Government. Fortunately, General Sir Mark Cubbon, the Commissioner of Mysore and Coorg, saw things in their proper light, and permitted Dr. Moegling to take over the control of the English school at M

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION IN PONDICHERRY.

THIRTEEN LIVES LOST.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, JULY 15.

Yesterday at the "Fête Nationale" at Pondicherry there was a review of troops in the morning, followed by regattas and other festivities and fireworks.

A rocket set fire to a pandal containing the fireworks, causing a fearful explosion and loss of thirteen lives, several others being injured. Great consternation prevails.

The Mayor, Monsieur Gallois Montbrun, remained with the victims all night, superintending the care of the injured. Medical aid was available at once.

A banquet was being given at Government House by the Governor when the fire and explosion occurred. Officials and doctors immediately proceeded to the scene of the disaster and rendered help. The Meingoon Prince, who had been present at the sports with the Governor in the morning, was present at the banquet. Further rejoicings, a ball, a performance at the theatre, &c., were stopped.

Several persons were burnt to cinders; only four charred bodies had been recovered when the last telegram was received. Death must have been almost instantaneous.

THE SALEM RIOTS PERJURY CASES.

(FROM OUR O.N CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, JULY 15.

Sabapathy Moodelly, one of the nine prisoners charged with perjury in the matter of the evidence they gave against Vijiaraghava Chary and other persons in the Salem riots trial, was yesterday sentenced at Coimbatore to two years' rigorous imprisonment. Another prisoner was acquitted. The trial against the others is going on.

MADRAS, JULY 15.

The Mail learns from Ceylon that the liquidator of the Oriental Bank does not intend to sacrifice any good estates in the island. They will be kept in cultivation, so that when an opportunity of disposing of them arrives they may be well worth the attention of purchasers. These properties are paying their way, and giving a good return as well.

Manilla land line and line to Mandalay interrupted.

OUR Egutpoora correspondent writes that 37 inches of rain had fallen there up to the 14th inst., compared with 53 of the year previous.

IT being understood that it is contemplated to do away with the Borivle station on the Bombay, Baroda, and Central India Railway, and that another is to be erected somewhere in the vicinity of the Indalla Tank, a memorial protesting against the measure is being circulated in the island of Gorai and the villages of Bhabum, Dysur, Sempolee, &c. Many traders and merchants are said to have signed the memorial.

IT is stated that enough rain has fallen in the Punjab to do fairly well until September next.

IT is expected that the amount contributed to the Lahore Cathedral Building Fund, as the results of the Simla bazaar, will be about Rs. 3,00.0 Of this, Rs. 2,600 has already been paid into the fund, and there is more to follow.

IN consequence of a threatened raid by Kakars, a guard of fifty men has been placed temporarily at Fort Monro, the hill sanitarium of Dera Ghazi Khan.

THE Allahabad paper says:—"What seems quite possible and more than probable is that, in the event of England's chief representative on the Russo-Afghan Demarcation Commission being a civilian, Sir Auckland Colvin will be selected. He is unbiassed and a diplomat, with a fair knowledge of Persian and speaking French fluently. He knows when to yield, and is not likely to yield too much. A thorough acquaintance with French, it is understood, will be regarded as indispensable in our representative, and this may be fatal to the chances of more than one other public officer of unexceptionable fitness."

IN a recent number of the Illustrirte Zeitung, published in Leipzig, it is stated that a tail-coat of scarlet satin has taken the place of the old conventional black dress-coat, and is now in vogue in Paris, Vienna, and Berlin. The same paper states that a conference of tailors will shortly be held in Paris to discuss the style of a new pattern of coat for evening dress, it being unanimously agreed that something must be done to enable people to distinguish gentlemen from waiters.

THE official military inquiry as directed by Lord Hartington as to the accuracy of the alleged disturbances by yeomanry officers has been opened at Yeomanry House, Lichfield. In addition to numerous citizens who witnessed the tarring of the statue of Dr. Johnson and the assault upon the actors when "Princess Ida" was being produced by D'Oyly Carte's Opera Company, it is expected that several actors, actresses, and journalists will be required to attend to give evidence. The inquiry is to be conducted in private.

THERE is an amusing as well as a serious side to the cholera epidemic in France. The wholesale flight of responsible persons from Toulon and Marseilles leads the papers of the capital to very grave reflections. The Paris thinks it "opportune to remind Europe to what extent England was responsible for the spread of the disease in Egypt. By her covetous selfishness she has exposed the lives of thousands to the pestilence now coming upon Europe." "Excellent," says the St. James's Gazette, "so light, so dainty, so Gallic in short. And so reasonable, too, seeing that, according to local belief, the infection was brought to Toulon by the last steamer from Saigon. Clearly they manage these things better in Cochin-China."

A BILL has been passed without opposition forbidding the importation and migration of foreigners, being aliens, under contracts to perform abour in the United States. The measure punishes the shipmaster introducing such persons. This law does not include contracts for the supply of skilled workmen in any industry not now established there, provided that such industry cannot be otherwise started, nor contracts relating to professional actors, lecturers, and singers. The Bill is prepared in response to a universal demand of the working classes for the prevention of the system of bringing over organized bodies of Hungarian, Polish, Italian, and other workmen, whose competition reduces wages.

WHAT is a kiss? The question can only be answered by experience: solvitur osculando. But it is easy after a decision in the Lambeth county court recently to say what a kiss is not: it is not legal "consideration." A surgeon in Lambeth kissed a working man's wife; the husband valued the kiss at £5; and the surgeon gave him an I O U for that amount. A month after date an action was brought on this document, but the judge promptly ruled that there was no consideration, and gave a verdict for the defendant. Perhaps the lady was in court, and the judge may have been influenced by that. For even the poets admit that there are "kisses and kisses;" the interesting question is whether this judgment was meant to lay down a general principle, or whether every case must be decided on its merits.

MR. WILLIAM MORRIS's contribution to Justice this week takes for once a very prosaic form, being an appeal for weekly subscriptions towards the "Propaganda Fund" of "the cause." Mr. Morris has sometimes been blamed for not making his deeds agree with his words, but in this case he heads the subscription list with a promise of 5s. a week. Mr. Hyndman contributes a modest 1s., as does a certain Fellow of an Oxford College; and, finally, "Socrates" promises an "occasional" half-crown. Here is the kind of stuff towards the propagation of which one of the most charming of contemporary poets contributes "without misgiving:"—

To the devil with Salisbury's insolent crew,
To the devil with Gladstone and Chamberlain too;
Be they in, be they out, it is ever the same
To the toilers who furnish the stakes for the game.

ENGLISH cavalry officers will be interested in a recent experiment which was successfully carried out in Russia by a regiment of the dragoons of the Guard. They rode from Krechevitsky, in the district of Novgorod, to Yam-Ijora, by the order of the Inspector-General of the Cavalry, who wished to ascertain the condition in which the regiment would arrive at its destination after a long forced ride. The distance from Krechevitsky to Yam-Ijora is 105 miles; the ride was accomplished in thirty-eight hours, at the end of which the cavalcade arrived at their destination in excellent condition. As they rested eleven hours at night and made two halts of seven hours in all, they were only twenty hours on the road. The frequent change from walk to trot, with occasional dismounting, was recommended by the riders as the best means of keeping their horses fresh. It would be interesting to know how this compares with similar performances in the English Army.

IT appears that when Mr. Callan, M.P., was camping out about three hundred miles from Rosario, in the Argentine Republic, his servant was attacked by one of the large hounds accompanying the expedition. Mr. Callan interfered to protect his attendant, when the dog jumped on him and bit him severely in the leg. Mr. Callan shot the dog with his revolver while the fangs were still in the limb. Mr. Callan was completely disabled by his wound, and had to be conveyed in a litter many days' journey to the camp. His sufferings during this time were intense; and when he arrived at Rosario he was in a very prostrate condition. However, he had the advantage of the attendance of three medical men, including the President's own surgeon. The wounds resulted in an attack of erysipelas, which for a time caused great anxiety; but Mr. Callan pulled through, and, though still limping from his wound, he was able to embark on board one of the Pacific line ships, and was expected at Liverpool about the 8th inst.

VISITORS to Frankfort-on-the-Maine this summer will find that one of the sights marked for them to see in the guide-books has disappeared. The Judengasse, of which there has only been one side standing since 1872, is now under a final sentence of destruction, and in a few weeks' time there will not be one stone standing of it on another. The street, to tell the truth, was never very picturesque in itself—certainly not so much so as many other parts of Frankfort; but it was an interesting historical monument, dating back to the middle of the fifteenth century, when it was the exclusive Jews' quarter, and was safely walled in, the gates being shut on Sundays and holidays, as well as on the occasions of the Emperor's visits to the city. It was only in 1808 that these gates were demolished and the restrictions on the Jews removed. Since then the Frankfort Jews have spread throughout the city; only the poorest and most wretched were left in the Judengasse, and its destruction will be an undoubted sanitary improvement.

FRENCH "sportsmen" have been recently making even more vigorous efforts than usual to acclimatize foreign pastimes. The other day they had the bull-fights at Nimes, when the clumsy hacking to death of some worn-out old cattle revolted the whole area; and Bordeaux was recently treated in the town park to an exhibition of "le coursing—a kind of sport which, as is well known, enjoys immense vogue in England." A course had been railed off and six greyhounds provided. At a signal from the "field-steward" a poor young fawn was started, but it turned the wrong way, had to be recaptured, and started again. The second time it got about fifty yards in the right direction, and the dogs were slipped. In a few bounds they had pinned the wretched animal against the railings; and a huntsman manfully despatched it with a couteau de chasse, amid the hooting of the spectators, who naturally wanted more sport. The excitement of the southern crowd once raised rapidly increased; they broke down the fences, took possession of the ground, and "le coursing" was at an end.

DURING the debate in the German Reichstag on June 26 upon the treaty of commerce between Germany and Corea the proposed State subvention for German mail steamship lines to Asia and Australia, as well as the colonial question generally, were discussed at great length. Prince Bismarck, who was present, made a speech in which he repelled the reproach that the measure had been delayed by him, and expressed regret that a portion of the House had not placed the necessary confidence in him. The Imperial Chancellor adverted to his recent explanations in the Budget Committee, and again declared that there was no question of pursuing a colonial policy by means of subventions or protection from the Empire, nor of any such Utopian ideas as the foundation of new provinces. But when Germans abroad [illegible] the Empire (continued Prince Bismarck) it could not be withheld. The Imperial Chancellor could not make such a declaration of insolvency as a refusal of that kind would imply. The delay in introducing the Bill was to be explained by the protracted negotiation carried on with friendly England on the subject of Angra Pequena.

PERSONAL rights are certainly well looked after in France. Some little time ago the courts decided, it will be remembered, that there was property in names, and M. Zola was fined for calling one of his characters by the common French name "Duverdy." The matter has now been carried a step further. It was decided that there was property in faces, and M. Jacquet, the painter, was condemned for having appropriated the features of M. Alexandre Dumas without their owner's consent. That was the principle laid down in the judgment, although in this particular case the offence was no doubt aggravated by the fact that the painter had revenged himself for a personal injury by giving a very uncomplimentary setting to M. Dumas's features. "It is to be hoped," says the Pall Mall Gazette, that the same law does not apply in England, and that Mr. Frith is not liable to action for his wholesale "appropriations" in such works as the "Private View." For what would become of the show at Burlington House if the remedy given to M. Dumas were generally enforced over here, and the courts could forbid the exhibition of pictures in which the features of any well-known man were traduced."

THE Reverend W. D. Macray has recently discovered in the Bodleian Library an old letter from William Hall, a Queen's College man, who took his B. A. degree in October, 1694, to Edward Thwaites, of Queen's College, a well-known Anglo-Saxon scholar. The interest of the letter is in the light it throws upon the verses cut upon Shakspeare's tombstone. Mr. Halliwell-Phillipps has printed it for private circulation, with a short preface, in which he shows that it was probably written in December, 1694. The portion of the letter that refers to Shakspeare is as follows:—

Dear Neddy,—I very greedily embrace this occasion of acquainting you with something which I found at Stratford-upon-Avon. That place I came into on Thursday night, and the next day went to visit the ashes of the great Shakespear which lye interr'd in that church. The verses which, in his lifetime, he ordered to be put upon his tombstone, for his monument have others, are these which follow:—

"Reader, for Jesus's sake forbear
To dig the dust enclosed here;
Blessed be he that spares these stones,
And cursed be he that moves my bones."

The little learning these verses contain would be a very strong argument of the want of it in the author, did not they carry something in them which stands in need of comment. There is in this church a place which they call the bone-house, a repository for all bones they dig up, which are so many that they would load a great number of waggons. The poet, being willing to preserve his bones unmoved, lays a curse upon him that moves them, and having to do with clarks and sextons, for that employment is a very honorable sort of people, he descends to the meanest of their capacitys, and disrobes himself of that art which none of his cotemporaries were in greater perfection. Nor has the design miss'd its effect, for, lest they should not only draw this curse upon themselves but also entail it upon their posterity, they have laid him full seventeen foot deep—deep enough to secure him. And not much for Stratford, within a mile of which Sir Robinson lives; but it was so late before I knew, that I had not time to make him a visit.

TELEGRAPHIC WEATHER REPORT.

SIMLA, July 14.—To-day's reports show a rise of the barometer, except at Kurrachee and the Burmese stations. The disturbance noticed during the past day or two has disappeared across the Indus, and the recovery in its rear amounts to between one and two tenths of an inch. The barometric gradient is rather steep on Bombay coasts. The winds are little changed. The passage westward of the small disturbance noticed above has had the effect of causing a heavy rainfall on the northern half of the west coast, three inches having fallen at Rajkot, three-and-half inches at Surat, and eight inches at Bombay. Elsewhere there is little change, and the weather remains dry in the North-West and a great part of the Deccan. Rain to-day: Bombay, 8 inches; Rajkot and Surat, 3 inches; Mercara and Moulmein, 2 inches; Ruthagherry, 1 inch. Previously, Dhulia and Malegaon, 5 inches; Khundwa, 3 inches; Akola, Surat, Bombay, Tounghoo, and Moulmein, 2 inches; Bareilly, Nowgong, Seoni, Hoshungabad, Amraoti, Indore, Rajkot, Poona, and Satara, over 1 inch.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

PRINCE'S DOCK.—The s.s. Harrogate, Brankelow, Clan MacGregor, and Adowa entered, and the s.s. St. Bernard, City of Manchester, and Scindia left, the dock yesterday.

THE EFFECTS OF THE WEATHER.—A large tree on the lower Government House-road, Malabar Hill, was blown down on Monday evening, and twelve feet of the compound wall of Mr. Beyt's bungalow fell down on Monday. About thirty-six feet of the compound wall of Mr. Sorabjee Shapoorjee's Iron Foundry in Khetwady, 1st lane, fell in on the same night.

REPORTED THEFT.—J. Cornelly, a private of the East Yorkshire Regiment stationed at Colaba, reported on Monday night that he lost from his pocket, while under the influence of liquor, at Cammateespoora a purse containing a currency note for Rs. 100 and Rs. 65 in cash. The currency note is said to bear a stamp on the back—"Framjee, Merchant, Mount Aboo."

LOTTERY.—At the Fort Police Court, yesterday, before Mr. Ryan, Syed Edush and six others were charged, at the instance of Inspector Schuliman, with holding lotteries without the sanction of the Commissioner of Police. The prisoners used to hold the lotteries in a house near Kara Talao and draw the numbers at Chimtore. Two of the prisoners having had previous convictions recorded against them, were fined Rs. 20 each, and the rest were let off with a fine of Rs. 10 each.

INQUEST.—A coroner's inquest was held yesterday at the Goculdas Tejpal Hospital, on the body of Cooshna Suttoo, aged 30 years. Deceased was a labourer and lived in a house at Funneswady, Fort. The last seven days he had been suffering from fever, and used to talk incoherently at times. On Monday afternoon his relatives suspected that he had been poisoned by an old woman in the house. He was taken to the hospital, where on examining which stands in need of comment. There is in this church a place which they call the bone-house, a repository for all bones they dig up, which are so many that they would load a great number of waggons. The poet, being willing to preserve his bones unmoved, lays a curse upon him that moves them, and having to do with clarks and sextons, for that employment is a very honorable sort of people, he descends to the meanest of their capacitys, and disrobes himself of that art which none of his cotemporaries were in greater perfection. And not much for Stratford, within a mile of which Sir Robinson lives; but it was so late before I knew, that I had not time to make him a visit.

STABBING WITH A PAIR OF SCISSORS.—Francis Pereira was charged yesterday, before Mr. C. P. Cooper, with having, on the 1st instant, voluntarily caused hurt to a carpenter named Dosabhoy Nusserwanjee, with a pair of scissors. It appears that on the day in question the complainant was enjoying his midday siesta on one of the seats round the Nacoda Tank. The accused and some other persons were also there. A police sepoy came up, and asked them if they were not assembled there for the purpose of gambling. The accused took umbrage at this inquiry, which he met with the reply that if the tank were filled up and the trees around cut down, nobody would care to visit the place. The complainant remonstrated with the accused for what he considered to be a rather sweeping remark, stating that it was the grateful shade of the trees which drew so many people to the spot. The accused thereupon called the complainant names and rising from his seat stabbed him in the arm with a pair of scissors. The accused pleaded guilty to the charge, but said that he had only acted in self-defence, and that though he was now nearly an old man, he had never before even raised so much as a finger at anybody. A police officer here informed the magistrate that the prisoner was an old offender, and his worship sentenced him to pay a fine of Rs. 100 or, in default, to undergo rigorous imprisonment for three months.

ORIENTAL LIFE OFFICE.—The manager and actuary of the Oriental Life Assurance Company reports that the "new business" during last quarter amounted to 434 proposals for Rs. 14,11,700, which, when compared with 368 proposals for Rs. 13,93,750 received during the corresponding period of last year, is a very fair increase.—Bangalore Post.

INCAUTIOUS USE OF FIREARMS.

AT the Girgaum Police Court yesterday the European lad named William John Twiss was brought up on remand and charged before Mr. Dosabhoy Framjee with doing a rash and negligent act so as to endanger human life at Sewree village, thereby committing an offence punishable under section 286 of the Penal Code.

On the date in question the accused, his brother Charles, and a boy named Henry Luke went out to Sewree woods with an old enfield rifle shooting birds; and at about 10 a. m., feeling tired after their excursion, they rested themselves on the verandah of the customs chowkey at Sewree. A number of native boys collected around them, and the European lads requested them to go away. They went away, but returned. The accused then jumped up with his seat, and the gun which was in his hand went off accidentally. The gun was loaded with powder and paper wadding. The charge struck one of the native boys named Narayen Itamjee (the prosecutor in this case) in the back, and caused a serious wound. The wounded boy's deposition was taken by the magistrate on the same day at the J. J. Hospital, and has already appeared in these columns.

Narayen Ramjee, the injured lad, on being further examined yesterday, said he was discharged from the hospital on the 21st of May last. He was subsequently re-admitted, and was finally discharged this day. He was quite well now.

Marootee Cumlia said he was playing with Narayen Ramjee near the customs chowkey at Sewree when he was hurt by a gun. This was about three or four months ago. At the customs chowkey there were three European boys. One of them was the accused. The accused had the gun and the tin box containing churas (gunpowder). Accused told them to go away, and witness and the other boys left. Narayen Ramjee remained behind to take a live owl from the ground, when he was hurt by the gun. Witness was then looking behind, and saw the accused aiming the gun at Narayen Ramjee. The accused was then near the pillar of the chowkey.

The accused here stated that he and two other boys had gone shooting to the Sewree-bunder, and at about 10 o'clock or 11 o'clock they went to rest themselves at the customs chowkey at the bunder. A lot of native boys came to drive away the owl that was near the chowkey. They told them to go away. They went away, but came back again. He had then in his hand, and as he jumped up it was accidentally discharged. He did not aim it at anybody. He did not draw the trigger. He knew the gun was loaded with blank powder and paper. He was sorry for what had occurred. He was 15 years of age.

Acting Inspector Lyall said in consequence of information he received, he went to the J. J. Hospital on the date in question, where he saw the prosecutor; he was hurt in his back. On receiving further information he took the accused in custody. P. C. No. 684 gave him the gun. Witness examined it and found it was empty, and that it had been recently discharged. Some pieces of paper were given to him by Mr. Gallagher, House Surgeon of the J. J. Hospital, as having been extracted from the wound on the back of the prosecutor. Witness made inquiries, and the last witness pointed out a number of boys to him, but those boys denied all knowledge of the occurrence and of having been in the crowd when the accident occurred. Witness here produced a plan of the chowkey, showing where the accused was standing and where Narayen Ramjee fell. The Custom House chowkey was on the main road, about seventy yards from the beach, and there are houses on the opposite side of the road, and people pass by on that road.

The charge was then framed against the accused, to which he pleaded not guilty.

Henry S. Lunt, a fitter in the G. I. P. Railway Company's Workshops, Parell, said he was with the accused on Good Friday morning at the customs chowkey at Sewree. The accused had a gun. There were a lot of native boys there. He jumped up to make them run away. They went a way, but came back. The accused jumped up, and the gun which was in his hand went off accidentally. They had come to the chowkey for rest. The gun was loaded with blank powder and pieces of paper wadding.

The magistrate in disposing of the case said that on the evidence as adduced he was disposed to believe that the gun went off by accident; but the fact of its having been carried charged with powder and wadding in the midst of habitations and people going about was a rash and negligent act within the meaning of Section 336 of the Penal Code, as a loaded gun was likely to go off at any moment, without its being knowingly discharged, as it occurred in the present case. It was a happy circumstance that the boy Narayen Ramjee was cured, otherwise the accused would have been in a much more serious position. Considering his youth, his worship was not disposed to be hard with the accused, and he thought the ends of justice would be satisfied by his being fined Rs. 40. His worship thought that the practice of carrying loaded guns involved serious risks, and he trusted that what had taken place would open the eyes of all who carried loaded firearms. Rs. 30 of the fine was ordered to be paid to the complainant's father.

BOMBAY NATIVE PIECE-GOODS MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION.

A GENERAL meeting of the Native Piece-goods Merchants Association was held on Sunday in the Association Hall, under the presidency of Mr. Damodar Gocouldas, deputy-chairman, who occupied the chair in the absence of the chairman.

It was proposed by Mr. Purshotum Odhowjee, seconded by Mr. Tricumdas Purshotum, and carried after a lengthy discussion by a large majority, that, as the existing practice of giving orders in the piece-goods markets to the salesmen of importing houses, or their agents who go from shop to shop with samples in hand and procure orders from different dealers for the same description of goods, is injurious to the interests of the dealers and prejudicial to the piece-goods trade generally, all business transactions, viz., the examining and inspecting of samples, the giving of orders and indents, the consideration and acceptance of firm offers made by the salesmen or agents of importing houses, contracts for the purchase of ready goods, and in short every other item of business relating to the piece-goods trade, should be made, considered, and completed in no other place except in the regular offices or establishments of the firm or firms with whom the respective dealers may have been in the practice of dealing.

Mr. Govindjee Thakersey Mooljee moved that the resolution be enforced from and after the 20th inst., and that in case any member acted contrary to the terms set forth in the resolution, such defaulting member should be liable to pay to the Association funds Rs. 101 as "liquidated damages."

Mr. Ramjee Lukhmidas seconded this resolution, which was carried by a large majority.

It was proposed by Mr. Dwarkadas Odhowjee, seconded by Mr. Jewraj Dayal, and carried unanimously, that the meeting approve of the letter addressed to the Bombay Chamber of Commerce in reply to their letter of 9th instant, addressed to the Secretary of the Association.

The chairman then informed the meeting the subject executed by the defendant on the 13th July, 1883, and were made payable six months after date. On the 16th January, 1884, they were presented to the defendant's manager for payment, but no payment was made, and they were protested. On the 21st January the plaintiff's attorneys demanded of the defendant the amount of the claim, and the latter sent a letter in reply from Ahmedabad, saying that he was ready to pay the amounts due on the promissory notes if the plaintiff rendered a detailed statement of the goods supplied by him, and if he (defendant) was given credit for the value of the deficient articles, and compensation for the costs, charges, and damages incurred by him through the plaintiff's non-fulfilment of a contract dated 23rd September, 1882.

The defendant, in his written statement, affirmed that, on behalf of the Ambica Spinning, Weaving, and Manufacturing Company, Limited, he entered into an agreement on the 23rd September, 1882, with Mr. James Latimer, the Secretary of the Anglo-Indian Spinning and Manufacturing Company, for the purchase of certain machinery, etc., for the sum of Rs. 2,35,000, to be paid in the following manner, namely, Rs. 5,000 as earnest money; Rs. 57,500 to the order of the vendor of the machinery immediately on receiving notice that money was required by the makers; Rs. 1,15,000 upon the delivery of the whole of the machinery in Bombay harbour, by paying 50 per cent. of the invoice value of each separate shipment on receipt of bills of lading; and the remaining Rs. 57,500 to be paid immediately on the mill being put to work, by a promissory note payable six months after date. The plaintiff was a partner and jointly interested with Mr. Latimer in this agreement. The defendant paid Rs. 5,000 as earnest money; and on receiving notice from Mr. Latimer that the contract with the makers was settled, he paid Rs. 57,177 in November, 1882. In accordance with the agreement, the whole of the machinery, &c., should have been delivered at latest within six months from 27th November, 1882. In March and April, 1883, correspondence took place between Mr. Latimer and the plaintiff, who was represented as having taken on himself the fulfilment of Mr. Latimer's contract on the one hand and the defendant on the other hand, as to the manner in which the last balance of Rs. 57,500 should be paid. They insisted that the defendant should give promissory notes for the amount at six months' date, but when the whole of the machinery was delivered and the mill put to work, but in proportional parts as each portion of the machinery came into Bombay harbour. Very strong and, as the defendant submitted, unfair pressure was brought to bear upon him, and it was ultimately arranged that the defendant should give promissory notes as required, but on the understanding that the notes should be honoured at their due dates only if the plaintiff duly supplied the defendant with the machinery, &c., at the times, and of the description, quality, and capacity specified in the agreement of 23rd September, 1882. The promissory notes, the subject of the suit, were passed by the defendant in pursuance of the arrangement; but the defendant said that the machinery in respect of which they were given was not delivered in accordance with the contract, and that the notes were therefore not honoured on their due dates. Defendant did not receive the machinery till about six months after the date on which it ought to have been delivered, and in consequence of the delay the defendant had sustained a loss of about Rs. 24,000, for which the plaintiff was responsible. The whole of the articles contracted for were not delivered. The value of the articles not delivered was about Rs. 12,000, for which the defendant claimed credit. The defendant had pressed the plaintiff to adjust the accounts between them, and was anxious that they should be fairly settled. The plaintiff tardily made an appointment for that purpose on the 27th February, 1884. The defendant asked him to name any date after the 12th March, 1884, as the Ambica Mill manager was then at Calcutta. Plaintiff took no notice of the request, and filed the present suit. The defendant said he had a claim against the plaintiff in respect of a promissory note passed by him on 23rd May, 1883, for Rs. 7,000, a balance of a sum of Rs. 10,000, as commission in proportion to invoices rendered from time to time, and which still remained unpaid. The defendant had no objection to an account being taken by the Court of the aforesaid transactions; and he submitted that, in any event, he was entitled to set off against the plaintiff's claim the sums of Rs. 24,000, Rs. 12,000, and Rs. 7,500, with interest thereon. The hearing of the case was proceeded with.

THE ZHOB VALLEY EXPEDITION.

THE Pioneer publishes the following details of the Zhob Valley expedition for the punishment of the Kakar Pathans which have been at last settled:—Two columns will move into Zhob in September, one from Quetta under General Sir O. Tanner, the other from the Indus under General Kennedy, commanding the Punjab Frontier Force. The force from Quetta will probably consist of 4 guns 9-1 Northern Division R. A.; 150 of the 1st Bombay Lancers, 700 North Staffordshire Regiment, 700 Lt. Rattray's Sikhs, 500 of the 2nd Bombay Grenadiers, 250 Madras Pioneers, and 75 Sappers. These are to move about the middle of September from Quetta through Kowas and along the Hurnai road to Thul, where the following would join them: 2 guns No. 1 Native Mountain Battery, 150 of the 10th Bengal Lancers, 150 of the 5th Punjab Cavalry, 250 of the 3rd Native Light Infantry; this will give a total strength of fully three thousand men. The column under General Kennedy will, we presume, enter Zhob from the Gomal river. It will probably be composed of No. 4 Mountain Battery, 2nd Punjab Cavalry, 1st Sikh Infantry, all from Dera Ismail Khan; 4th Sikhs from Bannu and 1st Punjab Infantry from Kohat. This column would not only threaten the Zhobwals from the north but would explore the Gomal route relieve the North Staffordshire at Quetta. Two months' supplies for Europeans will be sent from Kurrachi to Thuil, and six weeks' supplies be collected for natives. We cannot of course say what force Shah Jehan, the Zhob Chief, can put in the field, but its numbers would probably not exceed 12,000, as the Lunis, Hamyazays and Bori Pathans would hold aloof from him in the appearance of our troops in their midst. Men Sultan Mahomed is the chief town in Zhob; it is five or six marches from our border by way of the Vehowa Pass, and six or seven from the edge of the Peshin platean. Our troops will have no difficulty in getting food, fuel and forage if reports as to the fertility of the Zhob Valley are to be trusted. The Valley, we may add, is traversed by a good camel road from Peshin to the Gomal Pass, and there is also a road through the Venowa Pass to Peshin. We are extremely glad that the first decision, not to send a column from the Indus side, has been reconsidered. The exploration of the Gomal route is most important, and the display of force from both north and south will convince the Zhobwals and neighbouring tribes that we have ample strength always at hand to punish any clan which may raid upon our borders.

INDIAN STATUTORY CIVILIANS.

THE following is the letter addressed by Professor Wordsworth to the Pall Mall Gazette regarding Statutory Civilians:—

"The exclusion of statutory civilians 'from ever being set over Europeans,' on the ground of their relative moral and intellectual inferiority to competition civilians, will be judged by the educated native opinion of India as a gross insult added to a great wrong. We have adopted arrangements by which the educated native youths of this country are practically excluded from entering the Civil Service by the gate of competition; and Lord Lytton at least was anxious that they should be formally declared incapable of belonging to it—a proposal which the good sense of Lord Cranbrook declined. We then set up a new native Civil Service resting on a basis of patronage, without any serious guarantees for the intellectual competency of those who are appointed to it, and in direct opposition to the wishes and protests of those classes who fill the colleges which Government has established, and to which it so urgently invites them. And now, when the first question arises which has a direct bearing on the capacity and character of this work of our own hands, we turn round and protest that persons appointed under such a system are incapable of 'ever being set over Europeans.' Within a measurable time there will be from 150 to 200 of these civilians in India, a class too degraded to exercise any jurisdiction over the semi-sacred European, confined to obscure and subordinate posts, despised by their European colleagues as belonging to an inferior grade, and commanding no respect from their fellow countrymen. Such a service, if it survives, will be no unsuitable monument of the most disgraceful and disastrous viceroyalty in the annals of British India.

"It is clear, therefore, unless we are to lose all credit for good faith and sincerity of purpose, that this patronage service must be remodelled or abolished. The people now selected are in reality representatives as little of the aristocracy as of the intelligence of the country. They are members of respectable families who happen to enjoy the favour of some elevated official—a Secretary to Government, a Member of Council, or a Police Commissioner. In this presidency, a college education and a university degree appear to be regarded as positive disqualifications for selection. A young man of independent character and high talents cannot now hope to enter the Civil Service by competition, and he has generally no wish to enter it by the back-door of favour. Every one, again, who knows India, also knows how far the official world here appreciates the independence of educated natives, and what chances it is willing to give them. Deferential ignorance, conciliatory manners, and a plentiful absence of originality and independence, are now, and will always be, at a premium.

"In the college over which I preside there are 200 students drawn from all parts of the presidency. The older and more intelligent are at least as interested in politics as Oxford undergraduates. In the reading-room, supported by their own subscriptions, they see the Times, the Pall Mall Gazette, the Spectator, the Academy and Punch. They have naturally been considerably interested in recent discussions, in which the character of their class has been delineated with so much frankness and often with so much ignorance. But each one of these young men will be an apostle of the doctrine that the pledges and promises of the British nation are like those of Macbeth's 'juggling fiends,' if the very service which we professedly established as a sphere for the reasonable ambition of educated men is now to be made the ground of their permanent inferiority to Englishmen in their own country. And I for one will do nothing to disabuse them of this belief, because I feel too keenly how much truth it embodies. At the present moment the feelings of natives are deeply stirred by this question, and nothing but their warm gratitude towards Lord Ripon and confidence in his unwavering justice and good faith keeps them quiet."
